

Freight Environment Day - Wednesday 9th September

Not your usual environment conference....

Overview

This day will demonstrate how the environmental debate in Australia is impacting on the freight industry, and the actions your organisation should take to prepare for the future.

Attend the launch of the "SmartWay" program in Australia in partnership with EPA Victoria. Learn how this program has changed the face of freight in the US, what it can do for Australia and how your organisation can join this initiative.

Experts on emissions legislation, low carbon options and low emissions vehicles will be on hand to talk to small groups about how to achieve environmental leadership, comply with carbon reporting & emissions trading, as well as develop a low carbon freight plan for your business or organisation.

The day will finish with two panel sessions with leading freight owners and logistics operators sharing their strategies and successes in the environmental arena. If you are not on top of the environmental agenda then this is your day to find the answers.

Who should attend

CEOs, senior management, operations & fleet managers, manufacturers, supply chain & logistics managers, purchasing managers, warehousing managers, compliance managers, OH&S managers, equipment providers, technology vendors, consultants and regulators.
